FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WATT eLearning pet nutrition course accredited by American Association of Veterinary State Boards

Veterinary professionals able to earn (6) continuing education credits

Rockford, IL – October 23, 2012 – One of WATT eLearning’s online pet nutrition courses, Building Blocks of Companion Animal Nutrition, is approved by the American Association of Veterinary State Boards’ Registry of Approved Continuing Education (RACE) program. Veterinary professionals may enroll in this course to earn (6) continuing education (CE) credits.

Building Blocks of Companion Animal Nutrition, developed by Linda P. Case, M.S., provides an introduction to the science of companion animal nutrition and the nutrient needs of dogs and cats. This comprehensive online course is ideal for pet and veterinary professionals who seek or are professionally required to have a scientific understanding of basic nutrients and their functions, companion animal nutrient needs and feeding behaviors. Enrollment includes (60) days of online access and certificate of completion for participants.

This course meets the American Association of Veterinary State Boards’ requirements for (6) hours of continuing education credit in jurisdictions which recognize RACE approval; however participants should be aware that some boards have limitations on the number of hours accepted in certain categories and/or restrictions on certain methods of delivery of continuing education.

Pet and veterinary professionals can log on to www.wattelearning.com to sign up and gain immediate access to the course. For more information on the RACE program, visit www.aavsb.org/RACE.
