

Think Green

Peel Plastics' commitment to develop sustainable pouch solutions has expanded to include materials which contain post-consumer recycled (PCR) feedstock. Our PCR solutions are available in a number of formats with a wide variety of features, and are also approved for direct food contact.

PCR materials are a great option to help support your sustainability goals and maintain peace of mind that your pouch solution will protect your product.

peelplastics.com