AR Pouch

Advanced Recycling (AR) is a breakthrough process where post-consumer recycled material is converted back to premium, virgin-like plastics. This sophisticated technology enables many plastics that were once destined for landfill to be turned into new products, which can be used and reused, helping to end plastic waste.

Having an ISCC PLUS certification at both our facilities positions us at the forefront of the sustainable plastic packaging industry, and offers brand owners a considerable advantage. Contact us today to learn more.
