PCRpouch™

PCR Pouch

Peel Plastics' commitment to support the circular economy has expanded to include pouch solutions which contain post-consumer recycled (PCR) feedstock. Our PCR solutions are available in a number of formats with a wide variety of features, and is also approved for direct food contact.

PCR materials are a great option in supporting your sustainability goals and maintain peace of mind that your pouch solution will protect your product. Call us today to learn how you can get Think Green solutions running in your production facility.